

Acknowledgments

The Jump Into Foods and Fitness for Youth with Developmental Disabilities (JIFF YDD) project would like to acknowledge the following individuals and organizations for their contributions.

JIFF YDD Project Advisors for Curriculum Adaptation, Review, and Implementation

- Shelia Chapman, Consultant, TAS and Associates
- Susan Edwards, Tena Glover, and Karen Vaughn, Fort Osage High School
- Georgia Schmitling, Metropolitan Community Colleges–Longview
- Denise Schmitz, Nutrition and Health Specialist/FNEP Co-Coordinator, Jackson County, West Central Region, University of Missouri Extension

JIFF YDD Host Sites

- ACED (Adult Continuing Education for Persons with Disabilities)
- B.W. Sheperd Missouri Schools for the Severely Disabled
- Blue Springs Family YMCA
- Center High School
- Fort Osage High School
- Independence YMCA
- Metropolitan Community College–Longview Community Education
- Northwood School (Raytown)
- Red Bridge Family YMCA
- Trails West Missouri Schools for the Severely Disabled

Illustration, Publication Coordination, and Editing

- Cynthia Beckmann, University of Missouri-Kansas City Institute for Human Development
- Melissa Messina, Fresh Eye Edits
- Linda Newton, picture recipes and supplemental illustration

JIFF YDD Project Staff, UMKC Institute for Human Development

- Alexis Petri, project director
- Carol McGinnie, administrative assistant
- Terri Glenn, graduate student intern

JIFF YDD curriculum is an adaptation of the following curricula

Michigan State University Extension. (2006). Jump Into Foods and Fitness. East Lansing, MI: Michigan State University.

Family Nutrition Education Programs of University of Missouri Extension. (2007). Jump Into Foods and Fitness – Missouri Edition. Lee’s Summit, MO: University of Missouri Extension.

4— Jump Into Food and Fitness – YDD Curriculum Adaptation Guide

Developed by UMKC Institute for Human Development in partnership with University of Missouri Extension and intended to supplement Michigan State University Extension’s Jump Into Foods and Fitness curriculum.